COON ATTACKS SLEEPING KIDS

Animal Escapes From Park Zoo and Enters Home in Indiana Town During the Night.

Kendallville, Ind. — The Corona Park association, at a small town seven miles east of here, owns two pet raccoons that have been in captivity since they were a few days old. The male raccoon, now two years old, escaped from the park one Sunday night about eleven o'clock and gained entrance to a nearby home through the window and attacked Lavin and Thelma Zanker, sixteen and fourteen years of age respectively, while they were asleep. The woman was bitten about the face, arms and feet many times before the animal could be driven from the home. Her flesh is badly swollen. The animal escaped.

Highly Ford Bridge to Be Built.

The Farmington News of last week says: "The county court on last Saturday let the contract to the St. Louis Bridge and Supply Co. to furnish the structural steel necessary to erect a wagon bridge over Big River at Highway ford for $18,700 and to erect the said bridge at 10 percent above the cost of same. In return for this Washington County and interested citizens are to build about six miles of rock road to connect with this bridge on the west side and one approach to the bridge. About two miles of this road is in St. Francis County."

With the completion of this work Potomac will be within an hour's drive by car of the lead belt towns, give us quicker access also to Ironville and a direct route to Farmington. The action of the county court of St. Francis County in authorizing the building of this bridge should, and doubtless will, be appreciated by all the citizens of our county for whom it will prove such a convenience.

CUPID BUSY ON TRAIN

Dart Hits Hearts of Millionaires and Senator Bailey's Son.

Romantic Episode on Train in Texas Beats Anything Movie Director Ever Thought Up—Supreme Court Justice is Director.

San Antonio, Tex.—It was a setting that beat anything Mack Sennett ever thought up. A railroad train, a Supreme court justice, a millionaire, a young rancher, a midnight, a clerk dashing to the station with license firmly in his grasp, a telephone call to a preacher in his nightgown—all of this figured in the marriage here of Weldon Bailey and Mrs. Electra Waggoner Wharton a few days ago.

Mrs. Wharton, now Mrs. Weldon Bailey, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth. Her father is a capitalist and cattleman, one of the wealthiest in the entire South, and the bride herself is reported to be worth $100,000.

Reverting to the setting, Mrs. Wharton got aboard the train at Dallas to go to Waco for a visit with a friend. Weldon Bailey was on the same train, en route through San Antonio to his big ranch near Tucson, Ariz. Weldon is the son of former United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey and is a graduate of the Virginia university law department.

On that same train was Chief Justice Nelson Phillips of the Texas Supreme court. A fourth passenger was a little fellow carrying bow and arrow, who got busy just as soon as the conductor took up the tickets. Bailey, Judge Phillips and Mrs. Wharton were well acquainted and it wasn't long before they were in friendly conversation.

Bailey and Mrs. Wharton had been so friendly during the two years of their acquaintance that the boy with the bow and arrow didn't have to work hard, although it was a little unusual to have the question popped and the whole thing arranged on a speeding train, with a dignified judge as umpire.

So instead of getting off at Waco, Mrs. Wharton continued on to San Antonio and before the train reached here Judge Phillips telephoned from Austin to Thad Smith, district clerk, who met the couple at the station and handed them their license. That was at midnight. Next, Rev. D. D. South, a Baptist preacher, was called from his comfortable bed to answer the phone and solemnly consented to perform the ceremony at his home. He had just time enough to change from night clothes to day, when Bailey and Mrs. Wharton arrived and in a few moments it was all over but the purchasing of an extra ticket, only they decided to go on to California instead of the ranch for their honeymoon.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver.

writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which gripped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

Thedford's

BLACK-DRAUGHT

County Has Demonstration Model School

With the selection of Pleasant Hill school as a demonstration school, Washington County is to have a model school. Mr. Allan Hinchey, representing the Southeast Missouri Teachers' College at Cape Girardeau, accompanied by County Superintendent Burwell Fox, met with the directors and patrons of the school last Saturday, at which time a contract was entered into by Mr. Hinchey and the board of directors for the establishment of a demonstration school for the county. The State College helps to defray the expenses of the school, gives its supervision and furnishes a library for the use of the school.

The directors of the district are: W. J. Simmons, Percy Larned and J. J. Turnbull. The clerk is T. B. Hargus. The teacher employed for the next term is L. M. Hickey.

The Pleasant Hill Community Club was also organized, and officers of same as follows elected: T. B. Hargus, president; Mrs. Price Evans, vice-president; and Mrs. Clark Springer, secretary and treasurer. A program committee, with Mrs. P. C. Larned, Mrs. Millard Cole and Miss Ruth Turnbull as its members was appointed.

This project will be watched with great interest. If it proves successful, it will eventually help every rural school in the county. The Pleasant Hill school is to be congratulated upon its good fortune. It main cannot increase taxation.

James Jackson of Poplar Bluff bought his last suit of clothes the other day. At least he thinks it will last him the rest of his days, he is 109.

To the Republican Voters of Washington County:

On August 1st you will be called upon to select candidates to represent you in the general election, and it is to your interest to see that a WINNER is chosen. The opposing party will no doubt endeavor to put up the strongest opposition candidates obtainable.

Being unable to make an extensive campaign and see each voter personally, I wish to briefly call your attention to my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Circuit Clerk. I feel that I am fully qualified for the position I seek, and I feel sure that you choose me as your representative for this office you will have nothing to regret. I have served over three years in the U. S. Railway Mail Service, from which I was forced to resign on account of my health. The later years have been spent in the auto repair business, in which I was injured three years ago, partially disabling me from doing manual labor. I am not backed by any political, financial or other so-called machine, but am trusting to the voters of this county, who have always stood for better things.

I can with confidence refer you to any representative citizen of this county as to my character and ability, and I assure you that I will sincerely appreciate any favors that you may confer upon me.

Trusting that you will give me your careful consideration, I beg to re-

Yours for the majority,
W. A. (ADOLPH) BYRD
